How You Can Help Canopy Transform Lives	16

John D. Damon, Ph.D.
Chief Executive Officer

It has been said that “innovation is good for society and often lethal for those who innovate.” Despite these odds, Canopy Children’s Solutions has provided innovative solutions for the most vexing problems facing children and families for over 100 years. At the turn of the 20th Century, we were there for children in desperate need of forever homes and have now provided over 7,000 loving adoptions. However, as the needs of society have become more complex, Canopy has pioneered new solutions to meet those needs. Our innovations have evolved to include the state’s first maternity home; the first therapeutic group homes; the first substance abuse treatment center for adolescents; the first (and only) private, non-profit child and adolescent psychiatric residential treatment facility; and the first Mississippi-based intensive in-home and wraparound program as well as family preservation and reunification programs.

Jackie Meck
President

We made great strides in our first century of service, but we’re just getting started! The unparalleled complexity of challenges facing our children and families today must be met head-on with unprecedented innovation. This is why we have unfolded yet another “first” for the children and families of Mississippi – our Center of Excellence. Children and families do not experience challenges in silos. In other words, problems at school are not exclusive from problems with friends, educational challenges, physical health or mental health struggles. Rather, they experience these struggles in an integrated, seamless way – holistically. Therefore, solutions must be co-constructed with families through an integrated lens. Parents are the experts on their children and are the central architects who can leverage the building materials of their child and family’s strengths to help the entire family thrive. Parents don’t see their children in discrete silos (education, social, physical health, mental health, etc.).

They view their child holistically. This is what our Center of Excellence exists to do. It is impossible to adequately respond to a child’s “behavioral health” or “mental health” needs without also addressing their physical health needs, their educational needs, their family needs, their peer needs and their social needs.

Our Center of Excellence houses two distinct, yet integrated solutions. The first is our early intervention autism solutions. Lead by two doctoral-level, Johns Hopkins-trained clinicians, we are delivering world-class, empirically supported treatments which are the best science has to offer. Furthermore, we are partnering with global leaders such as Microsoft to provide ground-breaking innovations to address the global pandemic of autism. In addition to our early intervention autism solutions, the Center also offers integrated care through comprehensive outpatient child and family therapy. This care is provided by licensed professional counselors and a team of psychiatric nurse practitioners in collaboration with our board certified child psychiatrist.

The Center of Excellence is the latest innovation aimed at addressing the most vexing problems facing Mississippi’s children and families. We are excited about the momentum that is building for mental health to be front and center in the broader healthcare discussions and we are proud to partner with you to advance this critical agenda. As a result of our collective innovation and advocacy, children are reaching their full potential, families are overcoming extraordinary challenges, and our communities are learning to rally around mental health to erase stigma and to encourage children to live truly healthy through mind, body and spirit.

Patrick's Success Story

Patrick had bounced from school to school only to be told his challenges with autism and ADHD were too much for the school to handle. In a moment of desperation, their pediatrician told his mother, Lisa, about the CARES School at Canopy Children's Solutions.

When Lisa first visited the CARES School, she felt at ease. She was able to observe children whose behavior was very similar to Patrick's. They all seemed happy and the teachers were working closely with the students. When a child had a meltdown, as is normal for children on the spectrum; they were trained to help him find calm. Each student also had therapeutic reinforcement through an assigned therapist, which help students develop coping skills to be used in the classroom and at home. When Lisa brought Patrick to visit, he was eager to stay. He spent nearly four years at the CARES School attending one of the specialized classrooms for students on the autism spectrum.

At the end of his 8th grade year, CARES School staff recommended that Patrick return to his local school. Through a collaborative effort between Canopy staff and the public school district, they created a transition plan to help him successfully return to school.

"Patrick came to us struggling to meet the challenges of school," said CARES School Jackson Principal Maureen Long. "Changes in daily routines, coping with different expectations from teacher to teacher, and learning to navigate social interactions with peers was more than Patrick could handle without the assistance of our teacher and staff members. We had the pleasure of watching him take small steps to reach the goal of him transitioning back to his home school. We were and are still so proud of him and his accomplishments."

It has been nearly three years since Patrick started high school. Today, he's a regular kid with an incredible story of overcoming adversity. He attends general education classes and has a network of friends. He loves his teachers and especially loves the library. When Patrick feels overwhelmed, he has multiple avenues that allow him to "talk it out" or participate in an activity that helps him calm down. He, like many boys his age, loves Minecraft. Patrick collaborates with a group of online friends from across the globe on a digital novel called The Freedom Fighters, complete with character illustrations and their own back stories giving his creativity an outlet to thrive. He has his driver's permit and attends classes at a local community college for video game design. Patrick is starting to look at colleges and mentors other kids who struggle.

"I am so proud of the progress he has made," said Lisa. "It was difficult navigating where to turn next, but I am so glad that we found the CARES School. They gave him the skills and confidence he needed to succeed."

"I want people to know it is okay to seek help," said Patrick. "There's going to be someone you can relate to, someone who can help you if you keep asking and keep looking. You are never as alone as you think."

Patrick is one of many success stories that has arisen from the CARES School since it was established in the early 1990s. The CARES School focuses on students' strengths and help them to achieve their personal goals which instills confidence and sets them on a path to flourish.

"News of Patrick's outstanding progress reaffirms the difference we are making in the kids and families we serve," said Maureen. "Hearing of his continued success brings us joy!"

CENTER OF EXCELLENCE OPENS IN JACKSON

Canopy's Center of Excellence provides families with an integrated healthcare model where a child can access a variety of professionals in one location. The state-of-the-art facility opened in August 2018 with Canopy Behavioral Health Solutions and Early Intervention Autism Clinic. The Center provides a full staff of behavioral health and autism professionals, including Psychiatric Nurse Practitioners, Licensed Professional Counselors, Licensed Behavior Analysts, and Registered Behavior Technicians. The Center is able to offer outpatient therapy, psychiatric evaluations and referrals, intensive Applied Behavior Analysis (ABA) therapy for children on the autism spectrum, as well as medication management and telehealth solutions within one location.

AUTISM SOLUTIONS

Canopy welcomed Dr. Chris Furlow, BCBA-D, as the manager of the Jackson Early Intervention Autism Clinic in September 2018. Dr. Furlow joins our Director of Autism Solutions Dr. Jim Moore, BCBA-D as Canopy's second Johns Hopkins-trained doctoral-level behavior analyst. Canopy has established the largest ABA team in the state under a single provider. In total, Canopy Autism Solutions provided 7,953 hours of intensive ABA therapy to children on the autism spectrum in 2018.

IN-CIRCLE

Canopy's in-CIRCLE family preservation teams helped to divert more than 2,000 children from entering the custody of the Mississippi foster care system. Canopy had a 97 percent success rate in 2018 helping to address familial concerns and keeping families together. Of those families who were served by in-CIRCLE between January and April 2018, 94 percent of families were still together 12 months after discharge from the program. In addition to being able to secure safe living conditions with parent training, housing, job skills for parents, family therapy and connection with community resources for rehabilitation and other family needs, Canopy's in-CIRCLE teams throughout the state saved Mississippi taxpayers more than $60 million through the contracted service with the Mississippi Department of Child Protection Services.

CARES SCHOOL HATTIESBURG

The CARES School Hattiesburg has seen substantial growth since it opened in 2009. Beginning with a principal and two teachers, CARES School Hattiesburg has grown to a staff of 30 employees serving 62 children from the South Central Mississippi area. The school is fully-accredited by the Mississippi Department of Education and designed to meet the educational and behavioral needs of children whose behavior prohibits them from succeeding in a traditional classroom setting. CARES School Hattiesburg has a large population of students with autism and currently has five designated classrooms to serve the needs of children on the spectrum.

2018 Partners

Thank you to our community partners and partners in transformation who believe in Canopy's mission. Through their support, Canopy is able to champion the cause of caring for some of Mississippi's most vulnerable children and families.

How Can You Help Canopy Transform Lives

FINANCIAL CONTRIBUTIONS

Monetary, stock, planned giving and memorial contributions are ways to support the areas of greatest financial need to help us transform lives.

PARTNERS PROGRAM

Canopy seeks champions who have a desire to help children. The Canopy Partners Program showcases donors by recognizing commitments of all sizes, which drive our mission to help children thrive. The program identifies our community of supporters with giving levels that qualify an individual or company to become a Canopy Partner.

CREATE YOUR OWN FUNDRAISER

Through mycanopy.org, you can create a fundraising page as part of a special celebration, to honor a loved one, or as part of your own fundraising event. Your fundraising page will enable you, your friends and your family to have a positive impact on the children and families served.

CORPORATE OR INDIVIDUAL SPONSORSHIPS

Throughout the year, Canopy hosts several events to promote awareness and fundraising initiatives. Each event gives participants and sponsors the opportunity to support Mississippi children and families. Events include 5K4Kids Canopy Care Run, Children's Mental Health Summit and the Butterfly Ball.

CHARITABLE REWARDS GIVING

By designating Canopy as your charity of choice, you can support our work to help kids overcome extraordinary challenges. Canopy currently participates in community rewards giving through AmazonSmile and Kroger Community Rewards.

VOLUNTEER

Canopy has 18 locations across the state, many of which offer opportunities for individuals and groups to get involved. We welcome individuals with talents they would like to share. Volunteer opportunities may include participating in events for residential and school children, lending a hand for a work day at one of our facilities, preparing for a Canopy special event, entertaining foster children during support meetings, tutoring, or reading to the children.

NEEDS DRIVES

We encourage individuals or groups to host needs drives to support our children and families throughout the year. Donations remain within the local community from which they are collected. Needs drives can include:

- Bedding and Blankets
- Luggage, Duffle Bags, Backpacks
- Recreation Equipment
- School and Art Supplies
- Toiletries
- Toys and Books
- Undergarments and Socks
- Winter Clothing
